

The PeacePlayers International – South Africa City-Wide Tournament

What Is the City-Wide Tournament?

A full day of basketball games and educational activities for over 2,000 youth from the Durban area from PeacePlayers International – South Africa.

Players and fans watch the tournament final in 2008.

Who Is PPI – SA?

Since 2001, PPI – SA has been the premier sports-for-good organization in KwaZulu-Natal, using basketball to educate and unite young South Africans.

Tennis legend Boris Becker at the tournament in 2007.

What makes PPI – SA and the City-Wide Unique?

The whole world will be coming to Durban this summer. We've been here nine years, and this is our 16th City-Wide. No local sports organization has the resources, relationships and record to match.

A PPI – SA coach warms up the crowd before the children themselves take the stage.

Partners Include:

Harvard School of Public Health,
Laureus Sports for Good Foundation,
Nelson Mandela Children's Fund,
Sasol, Spring Lights Gas, and Engen

The 16th PPI – SA City-Wide Tournament

Chatsworth Sports Grounds
Durban
29th May, 2010